The High Price of Gold

The recent sudden advance of gold in New York has surprised almost every one and being regarded by some as the best test of popular confidence in the action of the Government, has furnished to those who desire and pray for national defeat and rebel success, ground for new hopes that the voice of the people will no longer sustain the war The late elections, however, ought to satisfy all such on that point, and it should be remembered also that gold is always and everywhere one of the most fluctuating and easily affected commodities that goes into the market At this time, however there are various reasons which naturally and almost sufficiently account for its rapidly increasing value Vast amounts are required for exportation in payment of the debts contracted by our merchants in other lands The merchandise imported the present year has been far more in amount and value than at any other time, principally because of the high prices of labor in the United States, which make it impossible for our manufacturers to compete successfully with the work of those abroad This year we have no means of paying for goods purchased in Europe, save by coin, as the favorable and prosperous harvests there, do not allow our abundant breadstuffs to find a foreign market Gold must therefore be had at any price to meet this demand.

But in addition to this, which perhaps sufficiently accounts for the high value to which gold has risen, it is well known that the large importations to which we have referred must pay duties in coin only The revenue at New York, at San Francisco and at other prominent ports of entry is enormous, the sums received greatly exceed the wants of the Government, and probably it has now on hand an amount of specie, greater than all that the banks of the metropolitan and other cities have in their vaults Whether the Treasury Department will deem it expedient under present circumstances, to keep this vast sum lying idle, or will at the proper moment put so much of it as will not be needed to pay interest in January into the money market, for the purpose of breaking down the existing speculation, is matter of conjecture We have no doubt, however, that the Government has the means and the power at any time to control, by its use of monetary facilities, the whole operations of the financial dealers of our great cities, and we hope that at the right time—just when such a movement will overthrow and overwhelm every speculator in the national currency—the Secretary of the Treasury will quietly dispose of the whole matter, by securing to the people, and to American commerce, such facilities as will stop speculation and strengthen public confidence

REVERDY JOHNSON —Considerable curiosity is manifested to know the opinion of this great statesman on the constitutionality of the Emancipation Proclamation He came very near the point in his speech before the Saratoga County (N Y) Agricultural Society, September 4th, in which the correspondent of the Atta thus reports him

His address was brief, and largely devoted to national affairs It was pervaded by a spirit of intense devotion to the Union and enjoined the duty of sustaining the Government in the struggle with the rebellion Without expressing an opinion as to the validity of the Emancipation Proclamation, he said that if, in the exercise of any constitutional war power, slaves should become free, they cannot be re-enslaved, and if not then the whole question would rest with the people of those States when they resumed their places in the Union. Slavery was an evil fruit, full of national difficulties, and would eventually fall in the contest with free principles

TOO BAD —Gov Letcher of Virginia—the secesh Governor—has lost all his niggers, and what is the worst point in the case he can't get pay from the State for those departed, and he thinks it too precarious a property to make further investments But hear the Governor mourn He sympathizes heartily with others while he thus feels for himself

Many cases of peculiar hardship arising from the loss of slaves, have been brought to my attention, and much complaint has been made by the owners in consequence of the fact that they have not received the value as provided for in this act In several cases the only slave capable of field labor that the owner possessed has been lost, and compensation not having been made he has been unable to supply his place If the value had been promptly paid, the hardship in such cases would have been greatly relieved

THE VALUE OF THE UNION —Jeff Davis, just before he left the United States Senate sneeringly rebuked a Democratic Senator for having "spoken of the of the great value of the Union as measured by the amount of time and money and blood which were spent to form the Union" "It cost, Mr Davis went on to say, "very little time very little money, and no blood" Probably ere this he would be Dictator has discovered that the people place a higher estimate on the Union than he did, and that he cannot destroy it, although he has caused the expenditure of much time, much money and much blood

Eastern News

NEW YORK Oct 14th —Last evening's Washington Star says The whole of Gregg's Division was ordered from Bolton Station on the 10th, toward Culpepper, and arrived there at 4 P M Thence the 2d Brigade of the 2d Division was ordered to Thoroughfare Mountain to support Kilpatrick but finding Kilpatrick did not need reinforcements, the brigade on the 11th rejoined the division at Culpepper On Sunday night Gregg moved to Sulphur Springs On the 12th the 4th and 13th Pennsylvania regiments were sent forward to Jefferson five miles from Sulphur Springs The 1st Maine regiment was sent toward Little Washington to reconnoiter The last named regiment encountered a large force of the enemy just beyond Amissville, and were surrounded, but gallantly cut its way out and crossed the river at Waterloo Ford, about 12 miles above Sulphur Springs At 10 o'clock on the 12th the enemy advanced on the 4th and 13th Pennsylvania regiments, which were at Jefferson's with cavalry, showing heavy infantry supports in their rear Our cavalry, seeing that they were being strongly reinforced, fell back slowly contesting the ground, to a large forest this side of Jefferson where Gregg, who led three regiments in person, dismounted a portion of his men and sent them out as skirmishers, their horses having been sent back to Sulphur Springs After stubbornly contesting the ground for over two hours, they were ordered to fall back slowly, and as they were doing so a heavy infantry force of the enemy was discovered on each flank, and at the same time three regiments of cavalry, having made a wide detour, attacked them in the rear At this time the 10th New York regiment was sent to support Gregg and Reid's battery of the 2d New Hampshire brigade which had opened on the rebel cavalry But owing to the short range of the guns no serious damage was inflicted upon the enemy The 4th and 13th Pennsylvania regiments were now pressed severely in front and our centre was broken, and at the same time they were attacked on each flank and in the rear Our men, however, cut their way through and escaped across the river with heavy loss The 15th Pennsylvania regiment was now dismounted and thrown along the river banks as skirmishers, while the 8th regiment was also dismounted and ordered to support the battery, which had only four short range guns. The enemy opened on us with some twenty pieces of artillery, but our troops gallantly held their ground for several hours, repulsing the charges of the enemy, and gradually fell back on the Fayetteville road, the enemy following but keeping at a respectful distance The loss of the 2d New Hampshire brigade will amount to about 400 killed, wounded and missing The 4th and 13th Pennsylvania regiments suffered most severely Gregg is highly spoken of for the manner in which he fought his men and it was owing to his skill and bravery that these two regiments fought their way out of their precarious situation Gregg was at the head of his men, in the thickest of the fight, and in several charges took the lead During the engagement the rebels charged a battery and captured one gun, but the 1st New Jersey charged and recaptured the piece Our cavalry yesterday held the enemy in check, and there was some little skirmishing

NEW YORK, Oct 15 —A later rumor says a general engagement began at daylight this morning (October 14th) on the old Bull Run battle ground

A special dispatch to the World says It is generally believed that our army will take up, for the time, a position with its centre resting on the Orange and Alexandria Rail road, about Catlett's Station Falling back to this point has been for some time talked about, if not determined upon, at headquarters. The recent engagement on the Rapidan, in which a regiment of New York cavalry was so badly cut up, and a large portion of the 123d New York infantry taken prisoners, illustrates the inexpediency of having so lengthened a front as the line of the Rapidan Catlett's Station is some distance this side of Warrenton Junction, near which Gen. Meade had his headquarters previous to the late advance to Culpepper

The Tribune has the following dated Army of the Potomac, Oct. 14th Last evening our cavalry encountered the enemy near Catlett's Station and toward Warrenton A brisk artillery fire opened, and continued until late Firing was resumed this morning, lasting all the forenoon Heavy cannonading also opened along our line in the direction of Manassas, lasting till evening It seemed evident that we had driven the enemy back. It is thought by some that Lee has his entire army in front of Meade It is believed that no considerable body of infantry has yet been engaged

ST LOUIS, Oct 15.—Dispatches from the West state that Shelby's rear was overtaken on Monday, October 12th, near Booneville A running fight was kept up for several miles, resulting in the death of a number of rebels On the same night an artillery fight occurred at Dunford, in which the rebels were defeated with a loss of twenty killed They divided into four squads, one going towards Lexington, another towards Sedalia, and the others moving on the intervening roads Our forces also separated and went in pursuit The rebels plundered everybody at Booneville, and stole all the horses along the road

ST LOUIS, Oct 15 —An invitation to the friends of freedom residing in the slave States to meet in Convention at Louisville, on the 8th of January, to consult together and take action on the question, appears in the Democrat to-day, signed by several Congressmen and other prominent gentlemen

Several squads of Shelby's guerrillas have crossed the Pacific Railroad, on their way South, pursued by Brown's cavalry Shelby's raid is about at an end His forces are scattered in every direction

MEMPHIS, Oct 13th —Many rebels who were killed in the fight at Collierville (Tenn) on Sunday, 11th instant had the oath of allegiance in their pockets, and also passes through our lines, which they had obtained for alleged loyal purposes The result of this will probably be a stop to what little intercourse the authorities have been permitting Hurlburt's forces, sent after Chalmers, have been skirmishing with him throughout yesterday and to day They have already driven him beyond Coldwater, in Mississippi, and are still following and punishing him severely

CINCINNATI, Oct 15 —Returns from fifty four counties give Brough 52,144 majority—a gain of 47,777 Of these counties, but fifteen gave Vallandigham majorities

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 15 —The Union League has reports from most of the State and conceding the majorities claimed by the Copperheads in the balance of the State, the figures show Curtain to be 20,425 ahead

NEW YORK Oct 15 —The Morris Island correspondent of the Times writes Lieut Glossom and sailing officer Tombs declare that the expedition against the Ironsides was quite prompted by the desperation of the citizens of Charleston who are pinched for the simple commodities of life and unless the harbor can be forced so as to admit vessels laden with supplies, the most serious consequences will ensue

The Tribune's Morris Island letter of the 9th October contains the following

Forts Moultrie, Simkins and Bragg fire continuously at the working parties in Wagner and Gregg They have the exact range and throw their shells and shot with deadly effect and accuracy into the works They seem to be practicing to fire almost simultaneously, so as to make the cover of our mouths unlivable against shot coming in divers directions almost at the same moment. The excellent bomb proofs preserves the men from most of the missiles but still casualties are numerous One of four 200 pounder Parrotts that had been silent for a week or more, fired this morning on Forts Sumter Johnson and Gathers

The Washington special dispatch says Three hundred and seventy five wounded from the front arrived last night They were wounded in various skirmishes so far

The Richmond War Department has made two new additions to North Carolina Wilmington and the region of Cape Fear have been assigned to the command of General W H C Whiting while the balance is under charge of General George L Hicketts

General Hoke Robinson has been relieved and General C C Augur temporarily assigned to the defences of Washington

WASHINGTON Oct 15 —Headquarters here to-day received dispatches from General Schofield dated St Louis October 14th stating that General Brown had beaten the rebels under Shelby three times and is still pursuing them

Another dispatch dated October 14th states that General Brown brought the rebels under Shelby to action on engagement They were completely routed and scattered They lost their artillery and baggage and a large number of prisoners were taken The enemy's loss in killed and wounded is very large We are still pursuing the rebels

NEW YORK Oct 1 —The Commercial Advertiser's Washington correspondent says

The moment the rebels saw that in the retreat of our army from the Rapidan on Saturday, the 11th it was the intention to attack the north bank of the Rappahannock they became quite rapid in their movements to turn our right flank, but Meade was too quick for them and had taken a position on the north bank of that stream Nothing daunted however by this failure the enemy continued to advance on the north bank and on Tuesday the Lieutenant were in Meade's front in considerable force It is reported that Sherman's army was kept up all day and that our army fell back on the line of the road It is said this morning (14th) that Lee has appeared in force again and commenced an attack Washington is seething with excitement over rejoicings at a battle has commenced and that Meade retreated to obtain choice of a battle ground his object being to reach Manassas if possible It is still with the Rappahannock behind him and it is thought it has not a superior number yet no one would be surprised to hear of the other's having been heavily reinforced Affairs of rumors are of course abroad Meade is much stronger than is generally supposed.

PHILADELPHIA Oct 15 —Trains come up from the Rapidan nearly every minute Our forces officially destroyed the railroad in their retreat and burnt all sill supplies An impression prevails that the enemy is in large force Our returning papers assert that reinforcements have come from North Carolina, Charleston and the Peninsula Officers engaged in the skirmishes and reconnoissances report that they find the rebels in large force everywhere

A NEW REBEL IDEA —A letter from "one of the ablest citizens of Louisiana" appears in the Columbia South Carolinian He makes the following suggestion as to the best means of conducting the war in future, and in a general way shows how easy a war could be carried on, if talking would do it

The war, if continued, can no longer be conducted as it has been Our currency is so depreciated that it will soon cease to be available I see but one remedy Let no more paper money be issued Let the whole Confederacy be divided into two classes—the contractors and the producers As long as this war shall last, every one of us must be satisfied with shelter, food and clothing and nothing else The soldiers and officers from the highest to the lowest, must fight without pay Why should they need money, when provided with necessaries, and their families taken care of? Let all the resources and productions of every farmer or planter be put at the disposal of the Government, without pay Let the President and every civil officer and employe have no pay In fact, let it be a penal offence to buy or sell anything, let food, raiment, shelter and medicine be secured to every one under a parish or county organization, controlled or supervised by the General Government In this way there would be no further increase of our national debt, in fact, no currency would be necessary for the time being but every one who should have Confederate notes in his pocket would then feel that they are good, and that he would have something to fall back upon when peace is declared It was on this principle that Frederick the Great, when the existence of Prussia was at stake, carried on successfully his famous seven years' war against such odds as the world had never seen before and never saw since Berlin has captured, was taken and sacked five or six times and his whole territory turned almost into a wilderness, but he came out of that war without a cent of debt Why? Because he seized upon the whole of Prussia, and forced every human being in it to contribute to its deliverance He did not issue bonds, but parted with his silver spoons, and expected the same from all his subjects He took everything in the name of Prussia, and paid for nothing, we know with what glorious results Should we adopt such a policy which would instantly put a stop to the increase of our national debt and would give the world the sublime assurance of our determination not to fail, together with the undeniable proof of the impossibility of our failing, because of the very adoption of such a policy the eight per cent bonds would raise to 120 or 130 in Europe The faith of so heroic a nation would no longer be doubted These bonds would then be more eagerly sought after than gold, and with them we would procure everything in the markets The North itself which relies on our fast approaching bankruptcy would despair of triumphing over the South, when transformed into a vast camp and a vast national workshop

When the adoption of the plan of this modern philosopher is decided upon we hope to be advised We would recommend the currency of Lycurgus, as being more solid therefore preferable to giving "Confederate bond" s —not to pay

THE TRUE COPPERHEAD —Some of the Copperheads complain about being abused by the Union press There is some mistake here We consider it impossible to abuse or traduce a Copperhead A Northern man, who sympathises with the South or the rebellion is too low to be reached by abuse Copperheads are invulnerable, and are out of the lists entirely when we talk about men Those born in the South and residents of this State, if not Union men are Secessionists—no half and half mixture We don't claim them as Copperheads although they control the Copperhead vote and keep up the Copperhead organizations The true genus known as the Copperhead is a man of Northern birth, who has sympathy for the South either from prejudice against the negro or for want of sense to discriminate between right and wrong Such is a Copperhead North ern secessionists are a different class of men —Appeal

CURE FOR FEVER AND AGUE —Wm Hamm, formerly of this city but for some years past a resident of Wisconsin and attached to the army of the Cumberland under Gen Rosecrans furnishes us the following receipt which he has successfully used in cases of fever and ague in the Western Hospitals 4 grains quinine 2 ozs sweet spirits nitre 30 drops muriatic acid—to be taken in doses of 40 drops each three times a day before eating Mr H says he has never known it to fail of effecting a cure when faithfully used We recommend those who have contracted the disease to give this medicine a trial —Maine Farmer

REBEL DESERTIONS —A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette with Gen Rosecrans army has been gathering evidence in regard to the alleged rebel desertions in the army He says he began his investigations without any belief in the fact or strong prejudice against them, but has at length come to the conclusion that they insufficiently describe the actual extent of rebel desertions from Bragg's and Johnston's armies After giving two or three detailed narrations of much interest on the question he says

"Scores of facts bearing upon this subject are in my possession only a few of which I have time to glance at

Since our troops have been at Bridgeport the number of deserters arriving at that one point alone has averaged nearly six per day

Not long since I heard one man of a party of eleven who had deserted from a single company in a Louisiana regiment declare there were secret associations among the rebel soldiers for arming each other to desert that thousands in Bragg's army thought of nothing else save watching for an opportunity to escape that the number leaving must in the times be as high as two or three hundred in a single day, and that Rosecrans and Lookout mountains are swarming with these absentees

A Georgian who was a Vicksburg paroled prisoner and had received a furlough to go home, declared that not a man of his company intended to return, except the orderly sergeant

A Tennesseean stated upon another occasion that when he took French leave of his company, there were but seven men remaining in it a number having been killed in battle, and more than forty having deserted

A Louisianian referred to above said that of his regiment less than a hundred men remain

A Kentuckian stated that ever since they heard of Morgan's capture the men from his State were in utter despair, and only waited a signal from their officers to break out in open mutiny against the rebel authorities.

YOUNG LADIES' ENTERTAINMENT —The Concordian Society of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary will give a public entertainment this evening at the Academy Building The friends and patrons of the School are cordially invited to attend

BROKE AN AXLE —Yesterday afternoon, as a double buggy was passing over the cistern planking at the crossing of Washington and First streets, the forward axle suddenly broke in twain, thus interposing a serious obstacle to its continued locomotion Nobody hurt

LUCRETIA BORGIA —The thrilling tragedy from the French of Victor Hugo, entitled "Lucretia Borgia, or the Poisoner," will be put upon the stage at the Willamette Theatre this evening From one of the world's most gifted men, and the principal characters personated by a company of deserved repute, it cannot fail of drawing a large audience

CITY TAXES —The City taxes levied by the Common Council this year will probably amount in the aggregate to the sum of thirty thousand dollars—a little more than double the levy of last year

PORTLAND ACADEMY —The second term of the Academic year commences Monday next.

BOOTS AND SHOES —The manufacture of boots and shoes employs a larger number of operatives than any other single branch of American industry The census of 1850 showed that there were 11,305 establishments with a capital of nearly 13,000,000, engaged in making boots and shoes to the value of $53 967,408, and employing 72,305 male and 32,948 female hands The returns of 1860 show that 2,554 establishments in the New England States employed a capital of only $2,516 less than that of the whole Union at the former date, and with 56,039 male and 23 978 female employees produced boots and shoes of the value of $54,767,077, or $800,000 more than the entire value of the business in 1850, and 82 8 per cent in excess of their own production in that year Massachusetts increased 92 6 per cent, having made boots and shoes of the value of $46,440,209, equal to 86 6 per cent of the general business in 1850 The State of New York returned 2,205 factories, with an aggregate production of $10,878,797, and New England, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey together produced $75,674,946 worth of these articles, being 40 4 per cent more than the product of all the States in 1850, and 67 9 per cent more than their own manufacture in that year The three counties of Essex, Worcester and Plymouth, in Massachusetts, produced boots and shoes to the value severally of about 14¼, 9¼ and 9¼ millions of dollars The largest production of any one town was that of Philadelphia, in which it amounted to $5,329,887, the next that of Lynn, Massachusetts, was $4,867,399, the third, Haverhill, $4 130,500, the fourth, New York city, $3,869,068 The largest production of a single establishment was of one in North Brookfield, Massachusetts, and amounted to over $750,000 This establishment was the largest of five the same proprietors had in operation that year, the total production whereof was over 1,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes, valued at more than $1,300 000 Machinery propelled by steam power is now used in many large manufactories with highly satisfactory results

India Rubber Goods were made chiefly in Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts to the value of $5,729,900, an increase of 90 per cent in the last decade

A RICHMOND PLAN OF HOW TO DEAL WITH THE CONFEDERATE FINANCES —The Richmond Dispatch urges that it is a positive necessity that a stop should be put to further issues of paper money, and the value of outstanding notes be redeemed to one third its present bulk. It says

The great question is, how is this to be done? The tax will do much, but Mr Memminger's remorseless printing press threatens to neutralize all the benefit that otherwise might be expected from it While it is estimated that the tax will call in old issues, or prevent new ones, to the amount of $400,000,000, Mr Memminger's assignats are pouring forth from his fatal machine at the rate of $50,000,000 per month Unless it can be stopped, we see no good to be derived from either the tax or the sale of the cotton loan bonds Doubtless some steps will be taken to that end by Congress, unless we are to be overwhelmed by these assignats If it can possibly be arrested, then we think the tax and the cotton loan might be so managed as to cause a reduction equal to the demand

* * * Now, people may say what they please of Jeff Davis, and we ourselves sometimes criticise his acts pretty freely He has made many mistakes, of course, for he is a man, and subject to the natural laws of the human mind. To say that he occasionally blunders is but to say that he is human Nevertheless, he is one of the most remarkable men of this or any other age, and the people at large know it, as well as the Yankees and Europeans They are conscious that he has made as few mistakes as any man probably could have made in his situation, and that with the smallest means ever placed in the hands of a revolutionary leader, he has contrived to carry on a war more tremendous than any ever waged against Bonaparte They see all this, and their confidence in him is unbounded If he will issue a proclamation appealing to the whole people to come forward and take this cotton loan, in the way the loan of Napoleon III was taken, our word for it, it will all be taken in a month We hope he will try it, and if he feels diffident of his influence, let him recollect the manner in which the people have responded to every proclamation he has issued

EXILES IN A QUANDARY —A new and perplexing question is about to arise and add to the embarrassments of the Government All the secession exiles sent away south from St Louis and other loyal places, were ordered not to put themselves again within the Union lines during the war under penalty of being dealt with as traitors But as the Union lines do not remain where they were when the exiles were sent over, but are continually advancing and now include again many of the exiles that lately supposed themselves safely in DIXIE—having gone away down to the Cotton States on the Gulf coast, the question arises is the decree of banishment cancelled by the advancement of the Union arms? Are the exiles at liberty when placed again within the Union lines by the voluntary act of the Government? Or must they run away so as to keep themselves banished?—New York Times

PORTLAND ACADEMY.—The second term of the Arcylemio year commences Monday next.

BOOTS AND SHOES. — The manufacture of boots and shoes employs a larger number of operatives than any other single branch of American industry. The census of 1850 showed that there were 11,305 establishments with a capital of nearly 13,000,000, engaged in making boots and shoes to the value of $57,407,408, and employing 72,305 male and 23,398 female hands. The returns of 1860 show that 2,554 establishments in the New England States employed a capital of only $5,116 less than that of the whole Union at the former date; and with 56,039 male and 24,278 female employees produced boots and shoes of the value of $54,767,077, or $800,000 more than the entire value of the business in 1850, and 82.8 per cent. in excess of their own production in that year. Massachusetts increased 92.6 per cent., having made boots and shoes of the value of $46,440,209, equal to 36.6 per cent. of the general business in 1850. The State of New York returned 1,305 factories, with an aggregate production of $10,878,797; and New England, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey together produced $75,674,946 worth of these articles, being 40.4 per cent. more than the product of all the States in 1850, and 67.9 per cent. more than their own manufacture in that year. The three counties of Essex, Worcester and Plymouth, in Massachusetts, produced boots and shoes to the value severally of about 14½, 9 and 9½ millions of dollars. The largest production of any one town was that of Philadelphia, in which it amounted to $5,329,887; the next that of Lynn, Massachusetts, was $4,367,399; the third, Haverhill, $4,130,500; the fourth, New York city, $3,869,068. The largest production of a single establishment was of one in North Brookfield, Massachusetts, and it reached to over $750,000. This establishment was the largest of five the same proprietor had in operation that year, the total production whereof was over 1,000,000 pairs of boots and shoes, valued at more than $1,500,000. Machinery propelled by steam power is now used in many large manufactories with highly satisfactory results.

India Rubber Goods were made chiefly in Connecticut, New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts to the value of $5,729,900, an increase of 90 per cent. in the last decade.

A RICHMOND PLAN OF HOW TO DEAL WITH THE CONFEDERATE FINANCES.—The Richmond Enquirer argues that it is a positive necessity that a stop should be put to further issues of paper money, and the value of outstanding issues be redeemed to one-third its present bulk. It says:

The great question is, how is this to be done? The tax will do much; but Mr. Memminger's powerless printing press threatens to neutralize all the benefit that otherwise might be expected from it. While it is estimated that the tax will fall in old issues, or prevent new ones, to the amount of $400,000,000, Mr. Memminger's assignats are pouring forth from his fatal press at the rate of $50,000,000 per month. Unless it can be stopped, we see no good to be derived from either the tax or the sale of the cotton loan bonds. Doubtless some steps will be taken to that end by Congress, unless we are to be overwhelmed by these assignats. If it can possibly be arrested, then we think the tax and the cotton loan might be so managed as to cause a reduction equal to the demand.

* * * Now, people may say what they please of Jeff Davis, and we ourselves sometimes criticise his acts pretty freely. He has made many mistakes, of course, for he is a man, and subject to the natural laws of the human mind. To say that he occasionally blunders is but to say that he is human. Nevertheless, he is one of the most remarkable men of this or any other age, and the people at large know it, as well as the Yankees and Europeans. They are conscious that he has made as few mistakes as any man probably could have made in his situation, and that with the smallest means ever placed in the hands of a revolutionary leader, he has continued to carry on a war more tremendous than any ever waged against Bonaparte. They see all this, and their confidence in him is unbounded. If he will issue a proclamation appealing to the whole people to come forward and take this cotton loan, in the way the loan of Napoleon III. was taken, our word for it, it will all be taken in a month. We hope he will try it; and if he feels diffident of the influence, let him recollect the manner in which the people have responded to every proclamation he has issued.

RULES IN A QUANDARY.—A new and perplexing question is about to arise and add to the embarrassments of the Government. All the secession exiles that sway south from St. Louis and other loyal places were ordered not to put themselves again within the Union lines during the war under penalty of being dealt with as traitors. But as the "Union lines" do not remain where they were when the exiles were sent over, but are continually advancing, and now include again many of the exiles foolishly supposed themselves safely in Dixie—have to press away down to the Cotton States on the Gulf before cessation arises, is the decree of banishment cancelled by the advancement of the Union arms? Are the exiles at liberty when placed again within the Union lines by the voluntary act of the Government? Or must they run away so as to keep themselves banished?—New York Times.

☞ Horotofore many have found it necessary to go abroad to obtain an outfit for Housekeeping. That necessity has now ceased, as will be seen by a visit to the FURNITURE WAREHOUSE of HURGREN & SHINDLER, corner First and Salmon streets, south end of Portland. They are now opening some of the finest styles of goods, and have the largest assortment ever found this side of San Francisco. Their place of business will be found by noticing the red flag-sign over the building. o3dtf

Bilious Fever cured.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, April 1, 1859

MESSRS. A. L. SCOVILL & CO.—I have been, for years subject to attacks of BILIOUS FEVER; and sometimes I have been laid up for months, and my system left in a feeble state by the use of strong medicine, which was given to me by my physician.

I have been using DR. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS for some time. I find that I can break these attacks in a day or so, and escape entirely the fever. My daughter had an attack of DYSPEPSIA, which distressed her much, she could not eat scarcely anything without becoming nauseated at her stomach continually. Some time since she got and has been using DR. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS, and she now is like another being. I have found also that they are the most valuable Pills for breaking up Colds, Headache, Pains in the Side and Back. I would not be without them in my family. THOMAS HIGGER.

☞ In Every Age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than DR. OSGOOD'S INDIA CHOLAGOGUE. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all. Do you prefer a speedy and effectual cure to a regular and scientific run of disease? Try the Cholagogue, and the object is accomplished. Then tell your suffering neighbor what it has done for you, that it may do the same for him.

Diarrhœa and Pain in the Bowels Cured.

CARTHAGE, O., Nov 29, 1862.

DR. O. R. BAKER—Much Esteemed Friend: I have had a severe attack of Diarrhœa, attended with griping pains, and was reduced very low. I tried many different medicines, but all to no purpose, until I got a bottle of your PAIN PANACEA, and commenced its use. The first dose put a quietus on the griping pains, and I had not used two twenty-five cent bottles before I was entirely cured. I also recommended it to a friend, who was attacked with cramp colic, and suffering with excruciating pains, and three doses entirely cured him.

Storage.—THE FIRE-PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Umatilla House, is the only building, "not made of wood," at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other houses that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town, liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1 50 per ton per month storage and although storage in wooden buildings is $1 00 per ton, yet the public cannot fail to perceive the advantages the subscriber possesses over other warehouses of this place.

Dalles, Jan 20, 1863.1m RASEY RIVEY.

Mildred's Sacrifice.

The vases of heliotrope in Miss Delford's dainty little parlor were distilling their sweetest fragrance in the delicious evening breeze that tossed the muslin curtains to and fro, through the wide-opened windows, and the cherry boughs overshadowing the piazza eaves were hung with sparkling jewel sprays of crimson fruit. July was purpling all the horizon with amethyst light—July brooded over the hills with tender warmth; and Clara Delford, in her dark, rich beauty, seemed like a type blossom of the richest month in all the year.

Did Captain Verner notice the changing color in her olive cheek—the blaze that glowed beneath her jetty eyelashes, in strange seductive brilliance? Did he observe how artistically she had posed herself on the tiny foot stool, close beside Mildred Moore's shadowy white draperies, and pure, colorless features? Clara Delford understood contrast and harmony—Captain Verner did not; he only knew that the two girls were like rose and lily-fervid sunshine, and pale with starlight.

"If I could only do something for those poor, suffering soldiers," she said, breaking the momentary silence, as if in continuation of the previous conversation. "Would it not be possible for me to devote at least a portion of my small means to their comfort and happiness?"

Captain Verner indulged in a quiet smile: for the heiress to speak of her "small means" seemed, even to him, like an unnecessary bit of ostentation.

"Certainly," he said, "and I can assure you the money could not be spent to a better purpose."

"Will you object to acting as my treasurer?" smiled Clara, with pretty, appealing softness in her eyes.

"Not at all; there are in my own regiment, many cases of hardship—even destitution—which it would give me great pleasure to relieve. Thank you"—as she opened the tiniest of silken purses, and placed a bank-note in his hand with blushing confusion—"I know from experience how much good twenty dollars can do."

All this time Mildred Moore had sat silent in the shadow of the cherry boughs; now she rose, and quietly withdrew. Captain Verner's eyes followed her slight, willowy figure, with involuntary attraction.

"You mustn't misinterpret poor, dear Mildred's silence," lisped Clara, as the door closed; "of course she is interested in your hospital reminiscences; but I don't think she cares very much about the poor soldiers—Milly's nature is not very sympathetic, and—"

"And," added the straightforward soldier, quickly, "her means are very limited indeed. She gives music lessons, or something, don't she?"

He had risen, and stood there, tall and handsome, in the golden July moonlight—Clara's beau ideal of a man.

"Good-night, Miss Clara. I must stop at Harwood Grange for five minutes, to tell about their two boys who fell at Fredericksburg; and I've two or three little errands to attend to in town. We soldiers, you know, are scarcely at our own disposal."

He held the little jeweled hand in his a moment, perhaps unconscious how closely he pressed it, and then vanished through the crimson-sprinkled branches of the cherry trees. As he walked along, whistling softly to himself, he thought of Clara in her strange transcendant beauty—of her melting, liquid eyes, and her mouth, like Cupid's bow, carved in scarlet coral.

"It was generous in her to give that money," he thought. "But I can't understand—hang it! it's no business of mine, I suppose; but why couldn't Miss Mildred have expressed her sympathy in words, at least. It annoys me a little; and yet I don't, for the life of me, see why it should."

"You sent that set of onyx to my mother?" he asked, an hour or so later, as he entered the somewhat stylish little jewelry store in the main street of the town. "Yes? Then it is all right, and I may just as well settle the bill."

He tossed a fifty-dollar Treasury note on the counter as he spoke.

"I hardly like to part with that money," he laughed. "The fact is, I've kept it about me so long that it seems almost like a lucky penny. However, there it goes—hand over your receipt."

He dashed the bit of paper into his pocket-book with the quickness that characterized all his motions, and walked out again whistling the low refrain that made a sort of company for his solitude.

It was nearly midnight—the air dewy and sultry, and the stars blazing in the violet concave of heaven—yet Captain Verner still sat in his balcony, idly looking out upon the summer night, with the faint fragrance of his cigar wreathed about him. Was he thinking about Clara Delford, or

"Half-past eleven—high time I was asleep," soliloquized the Captain, at length, giving his cigar a toss into the quiet street below, and entering the room where a shaded lamp cast a circle of subdued light on heaps of disordered papers.

"Hallo—what's this?" he said, half aloud, taking up a tiny note that lay lightly on the top. "This is a new arrival in my chaos of documents, or I'm mistaken."

The direction, "Captain Verner," was in a strange hand-writing—nor did the contents afford any clue. Nothing appeared further than a fifty-dollar note wrapped in a bit of paper on which was penciled these words:

"For the soldiers."

"Clara Delford again!" was Verner's first exclamation. "What a splendid creature that is!"

The next glance, however, discovered new ground of conjecture and perplexity—he held the note in the full glare of the lamp, turning it eagerly from side to side.

"I thought I couldn't be mistaken," he muttered, "it is the very note I paid at Atkinson's to-night—here are my initials, 'E. V.,' in the corner. Now, how on earth—"

He paused, apparently in deep thought.

"Very provoking that I can't find out to-night," he murmured; "but I'll go to Atkinson's the first thing in the morning."

The early dew was yet weighing down the half-blown roses in the simple garden, when Captain Verner entered the jewelry store where he had purchased the set of onyx for his mother.

"What can I do for you this morning, Captain?" inquired the brisk little jeweler, as he came forward, rubbing his smooth, white hands.

"A great deal, Mr. Atkinson; you can tell me to whom you paid out this Treasury note last night."

He laid the mysterious "greenback"—on the glass counter; Atkinson took it up and scrutinized it closely, then referred to his books.

"Certainly I can," he said; "I purchased a very beautiful pearl ring from a lady yesterday evening, and paid for it with that very identical bill."

A pearl ring!—the simple words seemed to throw him off the scent again. The jeweler unlocked his show case, and took out a small violet velvet case, lined with white silk, in which glimmered a pearl of surpassing beauty, set in a plain gold circlet.

"There it is," he said. "Ten years ago I sent to New York for that very ring, ordered by Dr. Moore as a birth day gift for his little daughter, then just twelve years old."

"Dr. Moore!" repeated Verner.

"Yes. Times are sadly changed now, yet I did not suppose that Miss Mildred would ever have been induced to part with that favorite jewel—the only relic, I may venture to say, she has ever retained of her wealthier days."

Captain Verner looked down at the ring through a strange, unwonted mist. How different was this silent sacrifice of sweet memories and old associations to Clara Delford's ostentatious gift from her overflowing coffers! "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have I give thee!" The words came to him like a revelation of Mildred Moore's nature.

Only nine o'clock, but not too early for Mildred Moore to be watering her sweet peas and geraniums in the cottage garden. Nay, so busy was she with a tiny pink blossom which had broken from its fastening, that she never heard approaching footsteps until Captain Verner's shadow fell across the flower border. Then she started up, with large, dilated eyes, like those of a frightened fawn, and carmine burning in her usually colorless cheeks.

"Captain Verner!"

"Do not be startled, Miss Mildred," he said, with gentle, reassuring accents. "I have only called to thank you for your kind donation to the sick soldiers."

She clasped her hands over her flushed face.

"I beg your pardon; I did not think—I never intended——"

"Nay," he interrupted, earnestly, "I have learned the history of the ring. Your sacrifice is appreciated, and——"

He stopped, for she had burst into convulsive sobs and tears. It was entirely a new phase of her being. Captain Verner stood completely confounded. Had he known her all these months, and yet remained ignorant of the passionate depth and emotion of her character? She was there before him, no longer the fair, passionless statue, but a lovely woman, made lovelier still by tears! The citadel of his heart—undermined long ago, unconscious to himself—surrendered at this last attack. And who could blame him?

"Don't Mildred!" he said caressingly. "My dearest girl, if you knew how it grieved me to see you weep——"

"Pardon me," she faltered; "I am ashamed of being so foolish—but it was all I had to give?"

"Mildred," he whispered, opening the violet velvet casket, "I have brought back the ring; will you accept it again?"

She looked at him with startled eyes and glowing cheeks, as if some deep meaning lay hidden in these words.

"Let me place it on your finger, love. Wear it as an engagement ring." He went on: "Oh, Mildred! I never knew till now how dear you were to me! Will you trust your future to me? Will you be my cherished, treasured wife?"

What Mildred's answer was is not all to the purpose—only Mrs. Grundy thinks it very strange that Miss Moore should wear a pearl engagement ring, when diamonds are all the fashion!

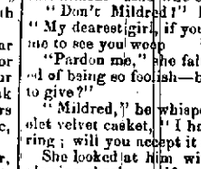
Deutscher Zahnarzt,



HAS RECEIVED BY steamer a most complete assortment of Dental Material and Instruments, with other improvements in the Dental office, which will give him the best of facilities for doing all operations in Dentistry by the newest methods, in the most scientific and skillful manner.

Artificial Teeth on gold or silver, on the latest and most improved suction principle; also on Amber, Rubber, and Cornlite Base, at the option of the patient.
FILLING TEETH with pure Gold, so as to render them serviceable for life again; or with Artificial Bone-filling, where so sensitive or so far gone that otherwise they would have to be extracted, they are hereby kept for years without pain.
For EXTRACTING TEETH I have in use Dr. Smith's (of New York) Galvanic Apparatus to subdue pain, a process now in use by the best of Dentists in the East. I also use the benumbing process, and Chloroform, if desired.
N B—No work will be allowed to go out of the Office that can be surpassed by other Dental Operators, but only the best of material will be used, and the most finished operations performed.
Special attention paid to regulating children's teeth.
Difficult Dental Operations particularly solicited.
References of Physicians and families given at the office.

PROVIDENCE SCHOOL!
FOR YOUNG LADIES, CONDUCTED BY
The Sisters of Charity,
VANCOUVER, W. T.
THIS INSTITUTION, which was commenced in the year 1856, is delightfully situated at Vancouver, on the north bank of the Columbia river. The beauty of the surrounding scenery, and the salubrity of the place, cannot be surpassed.
The course of studies embraces the various branches of a solid and useful education, and particular attention is given to form the pupils to household duties and plain and fancy needle work.
Parents may rest satisfied that every care will be paid to the comfort of the young ladies placed at this Institution, while no pains will be spared to nourish in them those principles of virtue which alone can render education profitable.
No undue influence will be exercised over the religious opinions of the pupils; however, for the maintenance of good order, all are required to conform to the external discipline of the house.
Terms for Boarders:

For Board and Tuition, per quarter of 11 weeks		$40 00
" Washing, "	"	10 00
" Music and use of instrument	"	17 00
" French, "	"	6 00
" Board during vacation	"	25 00
" Washing "	"	8 00

Books, stationery, beds and bedding will form extra charges.
Each pupil must be provided with a white muslin, a sky blue de laine, and a black de laine dress, made high in the neck, with long sleeves closing at the wrist, and a cape of the same material. Also, with six changes, six towels and sufficient number of pairs of shoes.
There is an annual vacation of six weeks, commencing with the first week of July, and ending with the third week of August. No other absence is allowed during the year, except in cases of serious illness.
No pupil is admitted for less than a quarter, and no deduction can be made for time lost or quarter uncompleted, unless in the case above mentioned.
Pupils can enter at any period of the year, and are charged from the day of their admission into the Institution.
Visits are confined to Thursdays, and can only be made by parents, guardians, or persons authorized by the parents of pupils.
All correspondence is subject to the inspection of the Superiores.
Terms for Day Scholars:

Per quarter of eleven weeks	$6 00
Music and use of instrument	17 00

Genuine Preparation.
'HIGHLY CONCENTRATED'
Compound Fluid
EXTRACT BUCHU,
A POSITIVE AND SPECIFIC REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS, GRAVEL
AND DROPSICAL SWELLINGS.
This Medicine increases the power of DIGESTION and excites the absorbents into healthy action, by which the WATERY or CALCEROUS deposits and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are reduced, as well as PAIN and INFLAMMATION, and is good for MEN, WOMEN OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
For Weakness arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion or Abuse.
ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS:
Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power,
Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing,
Weak Nerves, Trembling,
Horror of Disease, Wakefulness,
Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back,
Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System,
Pain in the Head, Flushing of the Body,
Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance.
These symptoms if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes, soon follow
Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,
IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.
Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases"
"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION,"
Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS
THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS,
And the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion that THE CONSTITUTION,
once affected by Organic Weakness,
Requires the Aid of Medicine, to strengthen and invigorate the system, which
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
invariably does.
A Trial will Convince the most Skeptical.

FEMALES! FEMALES!! FEMALES!!
OLD OR YOUNG,
Single, Married or contemplating Marriage
IN MANY AFFECTIONS PECULIAR TO FEMALES, the Extract of Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous state of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from Indiscretion, Habits of Dissipation, or in the

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,
AND
HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH
CURES SECRET DISEASES,
In all their Stages; At Little Expense;
Little or no Change in Diet; No Inconvenience,
AND NO EXPOSURE.
It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby Removing Obstructions, preventing and curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in cases of Disease, and expelling all Poisonous, diseased and worn out matter.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS
Who have been the victims of Quacks and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been thrown in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after marriage.

Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu
For all Affections and Diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE, from whatever cause originating, and
NO MATTER OF HOW LONG STANDING.
Diseases of these Organs require the aid of a Diuretic.
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
IS THE GREAT DIURETIC,
And it is certain to have the desired effect in Diseases for which it is recommended.

Evidence of the most Responsible and reliable character will accompany the medicines.

Chronic or Nervous Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver or Stomach.
such as Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil and great Depression of Spirits.
And will positively prevent Yellow Fever, Bilious Fever, &c.
THEY CONTAIN
NO ALCOHOL OR BAD WHISKEY.
They will cure the above diseases in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred.
INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal use of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable,) of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous advertisers imposed upon suffering humanity the flood-gates of ruin in the shape of poor Whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Invigorators and Bitters.
Beware of the innumerable army of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles and big bellied kegs, under modest appellation of Bitters; which ruin the health, create only a aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed patient in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters!
Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public; and the reputation and sale are not equalled by any similar preparation.
The proprietors have thousands of letters from the most eminent
CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS
and
CITIZENS,
Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.
Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?
if so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.
Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects; I yet know of no exception at present which may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, of which he knows any thing that contribute to the benefit of others.
I do this the more readily in regard to H. Jackson Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly a mere quack nostrum. I am indebted to my friend Robert M. Stoinbron, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by prevailing on me, at his solicitation, to try them, when suffering from a severe and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for years before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I, therefore, thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.
J. NEWTON BROWN.
PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1851.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.
There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 30 cts. to 40 cts. per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed. This class of Bitters has caused, and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the victims of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept habitually under the influence of Alcohol—a stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result of it is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.
For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in real virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. For we have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters combined with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!
AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS!
We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases incident to campaigns and privations incident to camp life. In the published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind is readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. For those resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if the Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.
We call particular attention to the following letter, and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's bravest, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters:"
PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1862.
Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my friends, some of whose names are appended, and who are fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years a member of Hibernian's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in September last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy-two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of fever. I was then removed from the White House, and went to the city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as one could be and still retain a spark of life. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.
I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see the clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Fred. Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel supported in being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, for whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months. My fellow-citizens, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the proximity of his which hangs on the thread of existence; to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.
Very truly yours, ISAAC MAIOR.
We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Maior, restored to life.
